

I LOVE YOU, YOU IDIOT

BACKSTORY

Sal and Marty have been best friends, as well as casual lovers for years. They have never moved into relationship territory and would stop being lovers whenever one or the other started a new relationship. Unbeknownst to Marty, Sal is in love with Marty and has been sending signals for quite a while.

PREVIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES

Marty has shown up to Sal's apartment to complain about his/her recent relationship, which has been on again off again for months. Sal takes the risk to try to kiss Marty, and Marty immediately hesitates. Sal takes a moment to digest the rejection.

SAL

You're rejecting me because of "resting ugly face" who wants nothing to do with you. Is that about right? So what are you doing here? You're such an idiot, Marty. All this romantic melodramatic bullshit about you being destroyed? That he/she destroyed you? You want to see somebody destroyed, Marty? Somebody truly fucked up? Take a look right over here, smart ass. [Sal allows Marty to take it in] Don't say you're sorry. Don't! You tell me all about this person who is perfect for you. I'm perfect for you, Marty! I am! But you can't see it can you? I'm just someone that you fuck. I love you, you fucking idiot! I can't pretend that I'm your friend anymore. It hurts too much. Just get out. I can't look at you anymore.

- 1) Emotional/sense memory of a time when you were sick and tired of being rejected.
- 2) Personalization: someone who broke your heart.
- 3) Sensory condition: overall of bugs crawling all over your body.